

ARIBA!

LEVEL 5 - LATIN

Written in 2007, Ariba was recorded on the debut Daryl McKenzie Jazz Orchestra Album, 'It's About Time in' 2008.

The chart you have before you is as it was 1st presented to the band, with the original intent for the tune to be a more contemporary styled 'songo' groove. Through the rehearsal and recording process however the tune began to have more samba style elements and less emphasis on the 4 in the main groove section. Players of this chart are encouraged to listen to the recording to hear how this eventually evolved. Depending on your drummer and bassist, players should experiment with finding their best groove that suits the strengths of your players. The piano part however, should, remain faithful to the notated lines. A special note to the trombone section. Make sure you stay up on the time in this one. The groove depends on you!
